Dennis Wilson New BCREA President

Vancouver, BC. Dennis Wilson, a Lower Mainland REALTOR and former president of the Fraser Valley Real Estate Board is the 2002/2003 President of the British Columbia Real Estate Association (BCREA).

Mr. Wilson has been involved with many facets of the industry as a real estate salesperson for 22 years and an agent for nine years. Since 1987, he has volunteered as a director, officer and committee chair and member.

A BCREA Director since 1999, Mr. Wilson has consistently participated in important industry developments, including the establishment of a national real estate extranet and negotiating with BC Assessment.

Despite his increasing contributions at the provincial level, Mr. Wilson continues his local commitment through participation on several Fraser Valley Real Estate Board committees.

David Herman, a REALTOR with Re/Max Treeland Realty in Langley, was elected vice president. Past president is Liz Tutt, a REALTOR with Re/Max Nyda Realty in Chilliwack.

The British Columbia Real Estate Association represents the interests of the 12 real estate boards, and their 12,000 licensees, on all provincial issues.
